Summer's Poetry of Place

The OFYR Classic Corten 100 isn't just for burgers. A variety of cooking surfaces, including an optional raised grill, allows you to 'cue everything from lobsters and veggies, to calzones and even bread.

Fired Up

If grilling at your house conjures up images of a lone spatula-wielding cook huddled over a barbecue while everyone else sips drinks and splashes in the pool, you need to meet OFYR. The weather-resistant, dual-function grill, designed in the Netherlands in 2015 to promote a more social grilling experience, features a nonstick steel ring that cooks food over a wood fire. The grill's three-piece design allows it to be easily moved from backyard to beach, but we appreciate its modern, sculptural aesthetic, which encourages the cooktop—available in two sizes—to be a backyard centerpiece rather than a tucked-out-of-sight appliance. The OFYR line of outdoor kitchen accessories is equally as chic. Weston Table, Weston, Mass., westontable.com
